SYMBOL OF SUPREMACY IN CURLING

Sought after by rinks from Canada, Scotland, the United States and Sweden — with other countries showing a growing interest — the Scotch Cup represents quality in curling unsurpassed the world over.

Although Canada has taken the trophy for the last five years, the 1963 Scotch Cup Matches produced the closest competition in the history of the world championship. And the growing interest in the game shows that curling is an export of which the Scots can be justly proud.

The Scotch Whisky Association was instrumental in bringing this great tournament into being and is pleased to accept the invitation of the Alberta Branch Royal Caledonian Curling Club of Scotland to stage the 1964 series at Calgary's Stampede Corral March 16th, 17th and 18th.

YOUR PRESIDENT . . .

If enthusiasm counts, then Norris Wood is the man for the job—in this case the presidency of the Alberta branch, Royal Caledonian Curling Club.

He's at the helm this year, succeeding Case Bolderhey.

Now a trim and distinguished 52, Norris moved to Calgary in 1951 from California where he spent a year. He'd moved extensively before settling down in Calgary with Wood Lumber Co., owned by himself and his brother.

He was born in Saskatchewan, and lived in many centres there as well as spending seven years in Winnipeg.

It was in 1927 that he started curling in Moose Jaw.

He joined the North Hill Club the year after he moved to Calgary, took a large hand in providing that club with a new building and artificial ice and served one year as president.

He joined the branch in 1954, working on all the branch's projects since then.

He's married with one son and two daughters. Two of the children live at home.

By his own admission, he's not a "joiner" and has few active interests outside his curling.

He stillcurls regularly, in both the square draw at the North Hill club and branch bonspiels.

Message from the President . . .

When this publication appears, there won't be too many months left of my term as president of the Alberta branch, Royal Caledonian Curling Club.

I have found the past months extremely rewarding and it has been an experience that I would not have missed for anything. I know the months to come also will hold much in the way of excitement and satisfaction.

This is going to be another big year for the branch. Besides the normal number of bonspiels, which is increasing every year, we also have many playoffs which will be climaxed by the championship for the Scotch Cup.

This championship, the world championship for curling, is ample evidence not only of the growing interest in curling throughout the world but in the fact that Calgary is regarded as the curling centre of Canada.

The interest and enthusiasm in the game here (last seen when the Canadian championships were held in the Stampede Corral) was responsible for Calgary being selected as the first site for the championship outside of Scotland. (This will be, by the way, the first world championship of any sort ever held in Calgary).

This interest in the game, which has resulted in its playing an increasingly larger role in the southland's sporting life, is largely, I feel, attributable to the branch and its work.

Curling always will be popular, of course, but the game must be directed and administered by a sound body. This the branch executive has done extremely well over the years and I am proud to be a part of it.

Curling still faces many problems (for example there still is some opposition to the Scotch Cup, the matter of professionalism has yet to be ironed out) but this is only an indication of the growth and progress of the sport.

Many problems have been faced in the past and all have been successfully surmounted. The same will hold true, I'm sure, for the new problems that the game will face.

The game is only as strong as the branch and care must be taken to insure that only responsible, dedicated people have a hand in the branch's operation.

As I say, I have enjoyed the past months tremendously. And to all curlers in the branch, good curling in the months, and years, ahead.

THE BRANCH

Curling has grown to its present stature (generally regarded as the biggest participation sport in Canada) largely because of the sound administration it has received through the years.

Instead of being allowed to grow up helter-skelter, with a variety of rules and no common goal, the game has benefitted from the direction and guidance of dedicated men and enthusiastic associations. The Alberta branch, RCCC, is no exception.

In administering the sport from Red Deer south to the international border, the branch must cater to the needs of probably 25,000 curlers of all classifications. Every club, no matter how small or how large, plays an integral part in the branch's daily operation.

THE BENEFITS

Each year the number of playoffs increase. In every one the branch is involved to a considerable extent. And without the branch, none of the playoffs that the curlers now enjoy would be possible. The playoffs, involving thousands of curlers in the 16 districts, involve an immense amount of administration and preparation.

This is probably the largest service that the branch offers its many members. It's likely that every curler at one time or another participates in some phase of the playoffs. And the list increases each year. Last season a seniors' competition was added to the schedule. This year a mixed event will be staged.

It is in these areas that the branch becomes so vital, so necessary to the members and the member clubs.

Then, too, the branch this season has undertaken the hosting of the Scotch Cup matches, bringing to Alberta for the first time a truly world championship.

The branch, too, offers financial assistance to many of the member clubs; also keeps a set of rocks which member clubs use for bonspiels. Each year the branch sponsors the annual bonspiel in Calgary, constantly enlarging and improving and revising it. Well over 200 rinks from all parts of the branch participate. Then, too, there are the excellent bursaries which are dealt with at greater length on another page.

THE ADMINISTRATION

As with any organization, the solid core of the work is dealt with by the executive which is charged with the overall administration of the branch's affairs. Annual and semi-annual meetings permit all the member clubs to have a hand in guiding the administration.

At the top is the president who works closely with the full-time secretary, Charlie Scott. It is through the secretary that word of the branch's operation goes out to the members. The secretary is in close touch with the conveners in the 16 districts. The operation of the branch's affairs in the districts, such as playoffs, are left in the hands of the conveners who meet at least once a year in Calgary to discuss common problems. Members of the executive also represent the branch at Dominion Curling Association meetings.

THE ANNUAL

For the fourth year, the branch is publishing this annual. It is designed to provide more liaison among the clubs, to give the members a closer look at the branch's affairs. Complete records are contained within the pages of the annual, as well as a resume of the year's activities in all the districts. Around 15,000 of the annuals are printed each year. They are distributed without cost to the members. In charge of the publication again this season was Ray Kingsmith of the Calgary Curling Club.

1963 SOUTHERN ALBERTA AND PROVINCIAL CONSOLS CHAMPIONS

JIMMY SHIELDS, RON NORTHCOTT, RON BAKER, FRED STOREY

... AND THE SOUTH WON

The winners of the 1963 provincial curling title caused little in the way of surprise.

One of the strongest rinks ever formed in these parts—Jimmy Shields, Ron Northcott, Ron Baker and Fred Storey—continued their winning ways of 1962, when they went to the provincial final, and the last rock, before losing out to Hec Gervais.

This time the rink (all of whom but Northcott represented Alberta in the 1960 Canadian curling championships) took the Alberta crown over Rick Cust, surprisingly carrying Alberta Curling Association colors.

At the end of the four-rink provincial playoffs in Edmonton's new Sportex building, the Shields rink had a perfect 14-0 record in Consols play to carry into the Canadian Championships at Brandon.

But there, Ernie Richardson was not to be denied an unprecedented fourth Canadian title.

Others in the provincial final were Eugene Mercieri, representing the North West Territories, with his rink of Jack Russell, Red Campbell and Paul Kaeser; and Mel Watchorn of Fairview, representing the Peace River, with brother Merv at third, Bill Roberts at second and Lew Beaulieu.

Cust, who serves with the RCAF and was completely unknown before his ACA triumph, had Tuck Nishmazura at third, Ted Fielder and Dale Cline.

Shields won 9-4 over the Peace River rink in the first round, 11-5 over the tough Cust in the second round and finished with a 9-8 victory over Cust in the final round.

In the final game, played before an extremely partisan Edmonton crowd, Cust jumped into an early lead in an attempt to force a sudden-death playoff in the evening.

However, his inexperience showed up on the seventh, allowing Shields to steal a pair, when Cust collaborated in plugging the front. Jim stole another one on the eighth to tie the score 6-6. After Cust used his last rock for one on the ninth, it appeared Shields would win easily on the 10th.

Coming into the hack, with last rock against him, Cust made a shot that can only be described as amazing. He used perfect weight to bury completely behind a Shields guard, and Shields had no luck trying to raise his rock onto Cust's buried counter.

Only one miss—by second Ted Fielder—was needed on the 11th end to let Shields square the match with a pair. Then came the crucial 12th, and Shields appeared in trouble in the early stages.

However, he had Baker throw a couple of rocks in front of the house, but far from the centre line. Cust became preoccupied, as novices sometimes do, with those comparatively unimportant stones, and Shields came up to shoot with only one rock to guard his draw.

Using a takeout because he had a biter in the 12-foot that would have made the difference if his last rock failed to remain in the house after killing the Shields shot, Cust came down with hot weight.

He was right on the broom, but he had misjudged the ice and rolled far to the back of the house.

BURSARIES . . . A SUCCESS STORY

So successful was the first year of the bursary program of the Alberta branch, RCCC, that it has been expanded.

Rather than the two that were presented last year, a third was added this time around.

Here are the winners:

Keith Bespflug (18) Oyen
James Evans Ackroyd (18) Raymond
Dwight Arthur Ford (19) Barons.

This year the selection committee of Ken Anderson, Rev. Dr. Jack Collett, Bill Murray and Art Fredell, considered close to two dozen applications.

Successful applicants were determined on the basis of scholastic ability, curling skill, leadership qualities, character and financial need.

Said Norris Wood, president of the branch: "The successful applicants this year exemplify exactly the kind of boys the branch is interested in assisting. It proves that we're on the right track with these bursaries."

The bursaries are worth $300 apiece and can be used at any university.

To compete at all, of course, the applicants must have participated in the Taylor, Pearson and Carson competition at some level.

Many applicants, despite excellent marks and considerable curling success, had to be turned down because of financial responsibility within the family.

Here's a look at this year's winners:

KEITH BESPFLUG—Born in Cereal, he attended Oyen high school and has plans toward an engineering degree. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cris Bespflug. Keith has been curling about five years and played with the Oyen team in TPC competition. He is also active in track and field as well as serving as president of the Students' Union.

JAMES ACKROYD—Born in Raymond, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ackroyd, James will enter a bachelor of science program at Junior College in Lethbridge and hopes eventually to become a high school teacher. He skipped his own rink in the district play-downs. He also attended, at Portland, a select institute for young engineers and scientists.

DWIGHT FORD—Attended Barons Consolidated High where he was president of the Students' Union. He plans to attend the University of Alberta or the Junior Collegiate at Centralia, working towards a degree in physical education. Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ford. He played (at second) on the rink that won the south last season and has been active in the game for almost seven years.

Convener: ID HAYSON, Medicine Hat

One of the largest districts within the branch, District 3 has a new convener this time around. He's Id Haysom, prominent Medicine Hat businessman and curler who replaces Art Butcher. As it turned out, both Butcher and Haysom, along with Cliff Wright and W. Lutes, represented the district in the seniors' playoff at Banff. The Medicine Hat bonspiel was won by the Fergie Shields rink of Sceptre. In the Consols playoffs, there were two Medicine Hat rinks—Bert Close, Glen Milliaons, Lloyd Hubbs and Jim Hook; Bob Bietz, Bill Haysom, D. Tingley and T. Flanagan. Medicine Hat TPC winners were Bill Symko, Bob Senger, Bill Martin and H. Belegenty. The Medicine Hat club installed six heaters last year, also insulated the ceiling, and now

Ralston had Jake Kramer as president last year and Fern Muirhead as secretary. The club held two bonspiels. Winner of the annual bonspiel was K. Luna, A. Geddes, K. Jackson and D. Silliphant. Consols representatives were W. Clink, A. McDonell, K. Kavanagh and N. Nowicki.

THE SCOTCH CUP . . .

It leaves Scotland for the first time and comes to Calgary

The Scotch Whisky Association, with its cherished mug, the Scotch Cup, has all but made it official that Calgary (and the Alberta branch, RCCC) represents Canada's bona fide curling hotbed.

Calgary will play host to the Scotch Cup matches in the Stampede Corral on March 16, 17, 18.

It is the first time in the six-year history of the international matches (which, indeed, represent the world championship of curling) that they have been held outside Scotland.

It also marks the first time that any world championship, in any sport, has been held in Calgary.

The Alberta branch, RCCC, bid to host the matches had the full approval of the Dominion Curling Association.

For the last two years, rinks from Canada, Scotland, Sweden and the U.S. have contested the trophy. There's only a faint possibility that additional entries will be involved this time around.

The competition has been won each year it has been held by Canada (the Regina Richardsons own four world titles and Edmonton's Hec Gervais, one).

The sponsor will handle all details involving the competing rinks. The hosts will look after the staging of the event.

The man who headed Calgary's most successful

Brier committee in 1961, Irl England has been named chairman of the branch's Scotch Cup "steering" committee. Working with England on the six-man committee will be vice-president Ed Gooder, Graeme Smith, Ken Anderson, Bruce Watson and Pat Dolsen.

In addition to the Scotch Cup announcement, the sponsor revealed the formation of a Scotch Cup International Advisory Council to be composed of a representative from the curling bodies of each of the competing countries.

The Canadian delegate, named by Dominion Curling Association president Dick Topping, is Colin Campbell of Toronto, chairman of the DCA's program committee and a past president of the association.

Representing the United States will be Elmer Freytag of Chicago, the U.S. Men's Curling Association delegate to the Scotch Cup matches since the U.S. entered the event in 1961.

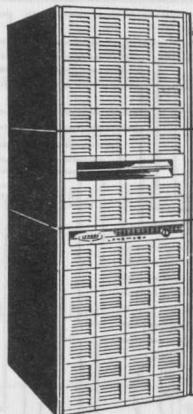

The two remaining committee members will be appointed by the Royal Caledonian Curling Club in Scotland and the Swedish Curling Association.

It is expected the Calgary matches will be treated to the finest of ice conditions in the Corral. The event will follow directly on the heels of the national Canadian Legion Championship which will wind up March 14. The ice will remain intact for the Scotch Cup play.

DISTRICT FOUR Convenor: HARRY WATSON, Picture Butte

The John Wolfe rink from Vulcan (Vernal Haga, Frank Fletcher, V. Rushfeldt) won the grand aggregate at the 36-rink Carmangay annual bonspiel, one of three held throughout the season. C. Greene skipped the club rink in the district Consols playdowns and on the TPC representatives from Carmangay were Larry Stettner, Roy Hurnanen, David Hubka and Brian Roemmel. No major improvements were made at the club during the year but weekend open and closed mixed bonspiels proved extremely popular.

The Granum club, with no representatives in TPC or Consols play, closed the season with a turkey dinner and annual meeting. Thirty-two rinks entered the annual bonspiel. Big winner in the 'spiel, the grand aggregate and first and second events, was the Don Mackintosh rink of Don Douglas, Gordon Jones and Roy Dunlop. Bud Williams of Fort Macleod won the third event and the fourth event went to the hometown rink of M. Matheson.

Vulcan won the aggregate. Don Hipfner of Granum took the first event, John Baron of Picture Butte the second, Max Groves of Champion the third and Wobick of Lethbridge the fourth. On the Barons Consols rink in the district playdowns were L. C. Lyon, E. R. Kananen, Max Wobick and L. G. Turner. The TPC rink of Terry Lyon, Glenn Turner, Dwight Ford and Brian Rauhaula went on to win the Southern Alberta title.

Stu Beagle topped the prize winners in the Claresholm annual bonspiel.

In Consols playdowns, Oscar Markle won the district with his rink of D. Weiser, Bill Brown and G. Bromley. On the TPC rink from Claresholm were Tom Cochlan, Denny Anderson, A. Thompson and Sparks.

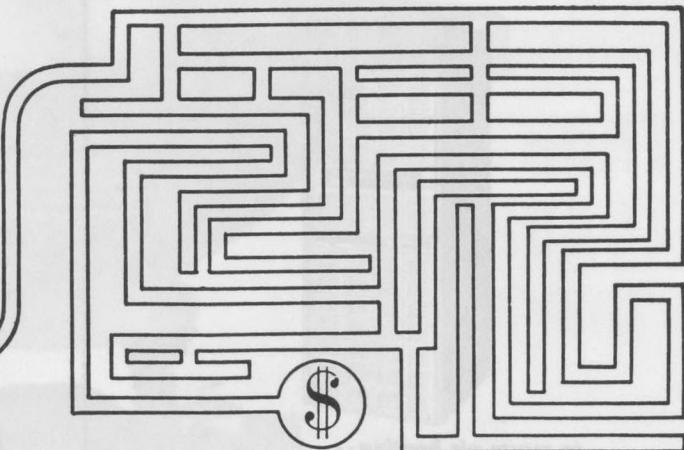

Unseasonable weather prevented the Turin Club from sponsoring any bonspiels.

Results of the Foothills bonspiel, one of the oldest on the provincial curling calendar, are to be found on another page.

Convenor: VANCE HITCHENER, High River

Scott Ellis had things going for him out of the High River Club. He won the district Consols title with his rink of Don Blair, Belf Quon and Ernie Leigh. He also won the district Curl-o-rama title with a rink of Ted Percival, Doug Lindquist and Jack Ball. One open and two club bonspiels were held at High River during the season. TPC club representatives were Del Fox, Keith Murray, Doug Ellis and Wayne Smith. Foothills bonspiel will be held in High River this year.

At Okotoks, the club introduced new matched rocks for the first time. In the annual bonspiel, one of four held, J. A. Brown took the bulk of the honors with his rink of Vic Heater, W. Poffenroth and Alf Poffenroth. Milt Skow skipped the Consols rink. With him were J. McLeod, Joe Heater and D. Dillabough. Norma Murray skipped the high school rink.

At Nanton no rinks entered either the Consols or TPC action. Improvements were made during the year to the kitchen and the waiting room. Here are the winners of the Nanton bonspiel.

In the first event the R. Nelson rink was first with H. Lind, H. Dwelle and Bill Damaski followed by the J. Howey rink from Parkland with D. Taitenger, S. Buckland and M. Hamilton. In third place was the G. Nurcombe rink from Stavely and fourth was the Weisser rink from Claresholm.

Second event—1, Bob Oulton rink skipped by G. Murschel and with Bruce Young and F. Gould; 2, Spud Murphy rink from Calgary; 3, Vern Lowther rink from Parkland with H. Greffen, G. Racher and M. Thompson; 4, L. Lind rink with W. Pence, L. Kitchen and J. Zebedee.

Third event—1, L. Rush of Stavely; 2, G. Wolstenholme rink with D. Pence, Bert Simmons and R. Gingrich.

In the High River bonspiel, curlers from Blackie captured two events in the bonspiel, won the first-second-third aggregate event, and formed three-quarters of the rink that took the first event.

Harold Smith won the first event when he beat out Vulcan's Haga on Friday afternoon. Although Smith is from High River, his teammates—Bob Egeland, Walter Wilderman and Darryl Laycraft—are all from Blackie.

The Smith rink were awarded curling sweaters for their victory.

Second event winner was the Jack Thurber rink of Blackie which beat Doug Carr. Prizes were St. George Hotel trophies. Thurber won first event at the Blackie bonspiel.

Clayton Tindall, Blackie, won the third event (played at Blackie) over Ellard Egeland. Prizes were trophies from the Gateway Hotel.

Although Egeland lost this event, his rink of Bernie and George Groeneveld and Richard Percifield had previously won the ABC-event aggregate and the trophies for it.

Scott Ellis got into the money when he beat Blackie's Layton Clingman in the fourth event to win Stetson hats, and Mickey Duke's rink skipped by Don Blair, topped Howard Garratt in the fifth event to earn fishing rods and spinning reels. This last event was the only one where two High River teams clashed in the final.

THE NORTH RECEPTION

The 1963 Alberta Consols finals in Edmonton will be remembered if for no other reason than that curlers, probably for the first time, were treated to the raucous heckling that other athletes have lived with for so long.

Here's the way that the Calgary Herald's perceptive curling writer, Larry Wood, described the incident at the time:

Edmonton — "A typical blankety-blank Edmonton crowd. The same kind of a reception we (the South) always get up here."

That was Alberta branch, RCCC president Case Bolderhey expounding. And needless to say he wasn't in his most jovial frame of mind.

He was voicing his displeasure at the behavior of the gallery at the new Sportex building where Jimmy Shields and young Rick Cust were meeting for the first time in Consols battle.

Curling crowds have always been known for their refined behavior in the past. This, however, was something apart. It was the wildest curling gallery I've seen in my time and Jimmy Shields and his buddies were quick to agree.

A plane-load of air force types were flown in from Cold Lake for the provincial play. Others, too, apparently, came by car, train, bus, pony express, etc. There was a pro-Cust atmosphere about the place that fairly struck terror into the hearts of the few Shields supporters.

There were the usual whoops of joy when the Calgary boys fanned a shot. And there was the next thing to a standing ovation each time a member of the Northern champion rink came through with a shot.

And the hecklers, a breed not generally connected with the roarin' game, were out in full force, too.

"I didn't let it bother me," skip Jimmy grinned after it was all over. "There was a great deal of pleasure in watching them grow continually quieter as the game progressed."

The Calgary crew was getting the verbal heckling each time they squatted in the hack for the first few ends. There were such catcalls as "You can miss it, can't you cowboy," "Come on cowboys, where are your spurs," "You're gonna goof another one wrangler" and "Miss, miss, miss the broom," emanating from the horde of blue-clad airmen alongside the sheet.

DISTRICT EIGHT

Convenor: BILL ALEXANDER, Banff

The new Banff club hosted much of the action during the year in District 8. The Consols playdowns were run off there with rinks from Canmore, Exshaw, Cochrane, Springbank, Seebe and Banff participating. The Banff rink of Bobby Thomson, Murray Sinclair, Johnny Peatfield and Jimmy Webb earned the trip to Lethbridge for the southern Alberta playoffs.

TPC district playoffs also were played in Banff with Canmore, Cochrane, Springbank and Banff rinks participating. The Springbank rink of Ron Forrest, Dennis Toews, Glenn Wills and John Robinson took the district title.

The men's senior championship for Southern Alberta also was played in Banff.

In the annual Banff bonspiel, the Lee Green rink won.

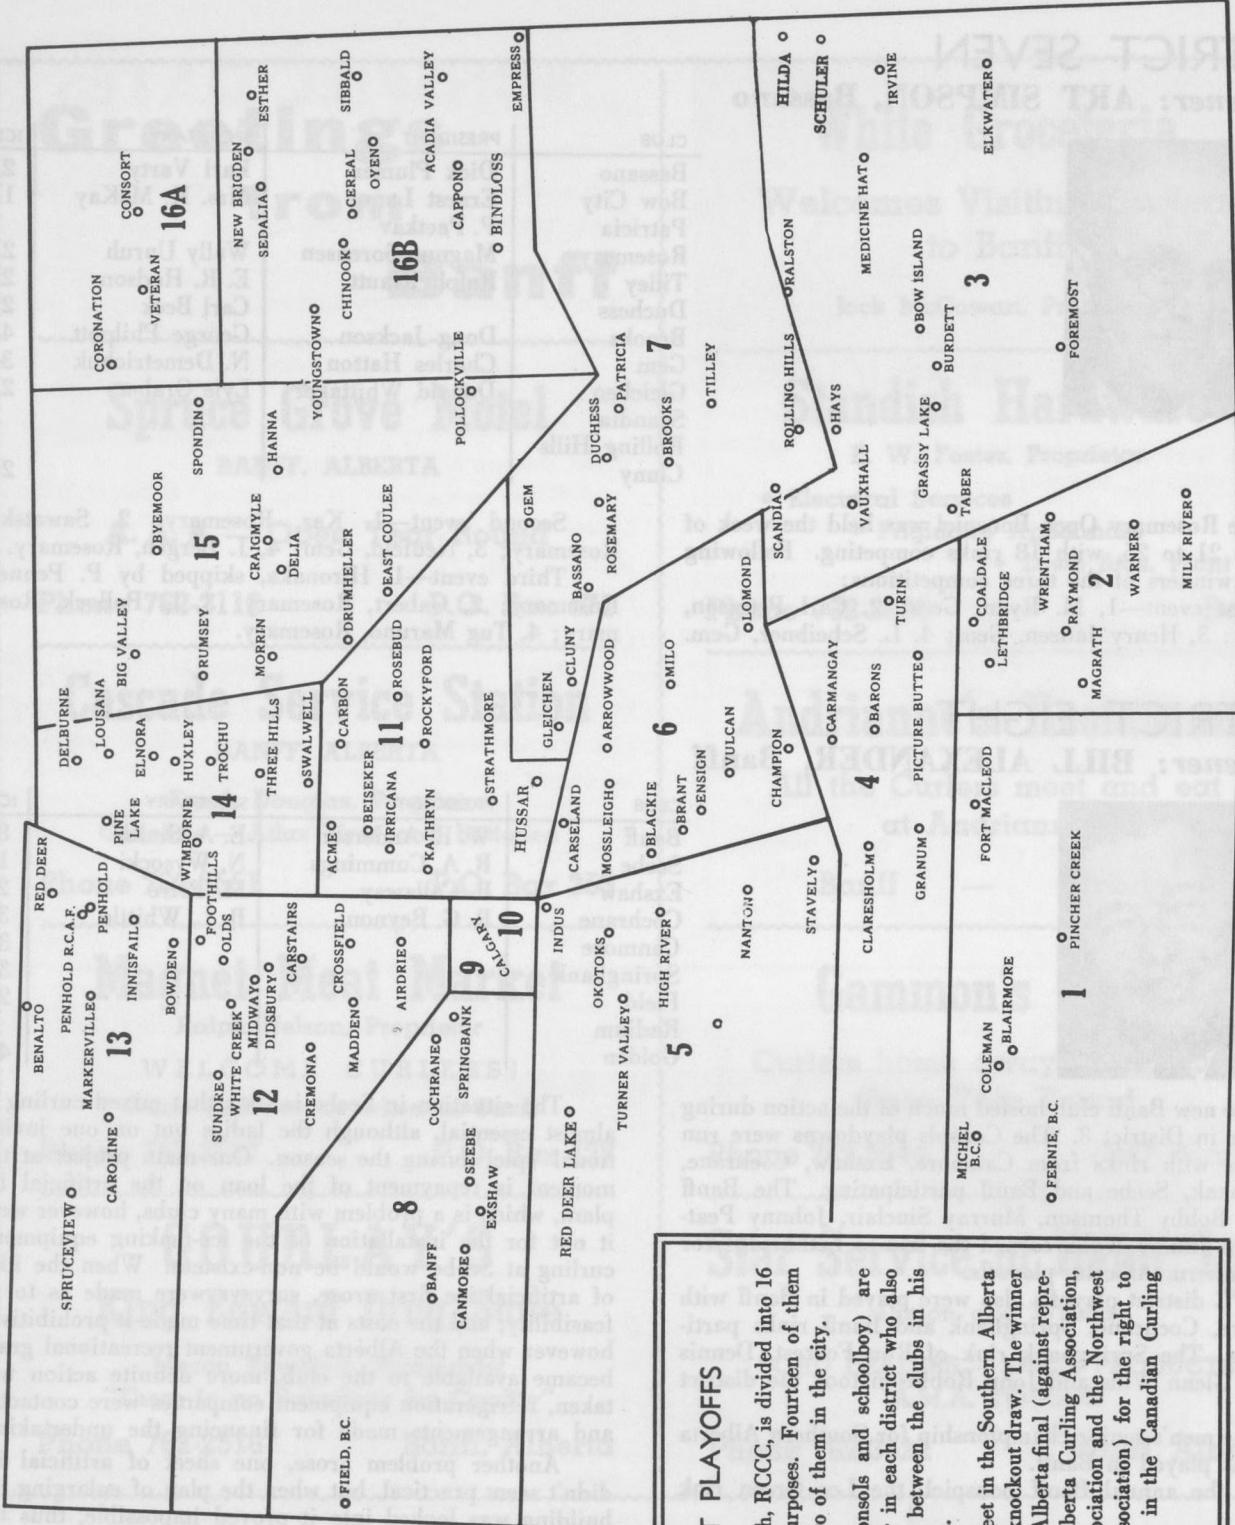

One bonspiel was held at Exshaw during the season and 19 rinks participated. Representing the club in Consols play were R. Callaway, W. Mickall, R. Hogarth and W. Hogarth.

Jim Gorsline and his rink of Ted Will, Bob Culbert and Scotty Patterson won the annual Cochrane bonspiel, one of four held during the year. In Consols play, the club rink was skipped by Bill Boothby with Brian Peverell, Gordon Davies and Ron Andison. On the TPC rink were Reed Thomas, Garry Edge, Jake Kowalchuk and Don Jack.

The situation in Seebe is such that mixed curling is almost essential, although the ladies put on one invitational 'spiel during the season. Our main project at the moment is repayment of the loan on the artificial ice plant, which is a problem with many clubs, however were it not for the installation of the ice-making equipment, curling at Seebe would be non-existent. When the idea of artificial ice first arose, surveys were made as to its feasibility, and the costs at that time made it prohibitive; however when the Alberta government recreational grant became available to the club, more definite action was taken, refrigeration equipment companies were contacted and arrangements made for financing the undertaking.

Another problem arose, one sheet of artificial ice didn't seem practical, but when the plan of enlarging the building was looked into it proved impossible, thus the one sheet. An offer made by Canada Ice Machines was accepted and with a good number of hours of volunteer labor the equipment was installed and put into operation in the fall of 1961. The first chinook of that year resulted in shirtsleeve curling instead of the dismal sight of a pool of water op top of the ice surface. The rocks were quite old and it was felt that a set of matched rocks to start off on artificial ice would be appropriate and they were purchased. It has been said the odd time—Calgary can have its Big Four building, Seebe has the Big One.

DISTRICT PLAYOFFS

The Alberta branch, RCCC, is divided into 16 districts for playoff purposes. Fourteen of them are outside Calgary, two of them in the city.

Playoffs (both Consols and schoolboy) are handled by a convener in each district who also acts as a liaison man between the clubs in his district and the branch.

District winners meet in the Southern Alberta playdowns in a double knockout draw. The winner then advances into the Alberta final (against representatives from the Alberta Curling Association, the Peace Curling Association and the Northwest Territories Curling Association) for the right to represent the province in the Canadian Curling Championships.

The playoff curling agenda for Calgary promises to be nothing short of hectic this season.

After a slack year in 1963, the city will host no less than five of the six playdowns including all four traditional events, the southern and provincial Consols and the southern and provincial Taylor, Pearson and Carson schoolboys. Then, too, there's the new mixed playoffs for the South.

The southern TPC is slated for Jan. 30 - Feb. 1 with the regional Consols to follow Feb. 6 - 8. Running at almost the same time, Feb. 7 - 8, will be the provincial TPC play. Then come the provincial Consols Feb. 14-15 with the provincial seniors in conjunction. And the mixed action follows Feb. 21 - 23.

The addition of the six-sheet Foothills Curling Club in the western end of the city has boosted Calgary's artificial ice figure to a whopping 122.

The city's second privately-owned layout, the Foothills formed a men's club of some 30 rinks and had plans to go ahead with women's and mixed leagues as well. The rink is located adjacent to the Trans Canada Highway and is the venture of the four Henry brothers, Ross, a farm broadcaster with a Calgary radio station, and Bill, Doug and Pete, all farmers at Laporte, Sask.

Still the largest curling emporium in the world, the Stampede's Big Four building, with Jack Arbour directing the 48 sheets, drew in more than 200 rinks for its annual Indian Summer Bonspiel, the season opener. The place is packed with rocktossers each night, and does a fair bit of rental business on the weekends and in the afternoons.

The Calgary Curling Club, the eight-sheeter in Sunnyside which produces the city's best curlers each year, installed four circulating fan heaters in the off-season which keep a constant ice level temperature of 32 degrees and eliminate hoar frost and variance of ice level at the same time. The club goes with two bonspiels, rapidly growing to major status—the 64-rink Calgary Club Mixed, and the 64-rink Holiday Bonspiel, a cash affair that attracts most of the better shooters.

The Elbow Valley Club, with eight sheets constantly busy in the southwest end, started a new trend in the off-season with summer curling. Owner-operator Ernie McPherson came up with the idea to erase the seasonal limit on the sport and reported astounding success. He kept four sheets active and staged three off-season cash bonspiels.

The city's two service rinks, the army's Garrison Club and the air force's Lincoln Park Club, have boosted the game in their areas. The Lincoln Park crew has expanded to 40 men's rinks this season and will be the site of two of the province's major service bonspiels. The Garrison, constructed two years ago, has some rental business to supplement its own club activity.

The Glencoe, back in full swing this year after completing a worthy rebuilding job, boasts 100 rinks in its men's section. The club, razed by fire early in 1962, got rolling again midway through last season with a new and modern eight-sheet unit.

The Westwinds, the planned family club that to date has been limited mainly to curling facilities, has strengthened its men's section somewhat and has a busy women's and mixed program. A major renovation, handled entirely by volunteer labor, was the construction of an upstairs lounge in the off-season. The club had its snake room sparsely furnished when the season began but there were plans to remedy this. The addition also serves as a fine elevated viewing area.

Still another city family retreat, the north hill's Winter Club houses one of the busiest curling groups. There are more than 100 men's rinks and women's, junior and mixed sections are also packed. Difficulty perfecting the ice on its 12 sheets in early October forced the club to cancel out its season-opening mixed bonspiel.

SCHOOLBOY SUPREMACY . . .

The coveted Southern Alberta Taylor, Pearson and Carson title went to a rink skipped by one of the youngest competitors in the history of the event, 15-year-old Terry Lyon.

The Barons rink of Lyon, Glen Turner, Dwight Ford and Brian Rauhala came back from an early defeat to end up representing the branch in the provincial final at Edmonton. They came within a whisker of adding the provincial title to their collection.

The 1963 Southern Alberta TPC playdowns were run off at the Westwinds Club in Calgary, also the site of the traditional banquet.

Young Lyon, who plays a pretty heady brand of game and isn't one for leaving too much opposition granite in play, bounded off the ropes to claim the southern Taylor, Pearson and Carson high school title with back-to-back victories over Vulcan's Gary Beagle.

With Glen Turner at third, Dwight Ford, second and Brian Rauhala leading, Lyon posted 9-2 and 6-4 decisions over the Vulcan crew. In the morning the Barons outfit scraped by Cam Morton and his Calgary Mount Royal College lads 9-8 in an extra end for the B section honors and a crack at Beagle, the A section survivor.

It was a long road back for Lyon and friends in the 16-rink playdowns. They downed Calgary's Brian Norton in their opening game before being promptly relegated to the B grouping by Jan Horegsi of Blairmore in the quarter-finals. Facing a do-or-die situation each time out, the Barons boys won six straight games for the title.

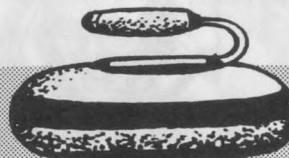

Beagle went through the playdowns undefeated before running into Lyon in the finals. The first game was a lopsided affair. The Barons rink was hitting with monotonous consistency while the Vulcan boys had one of their looser performances.

Lyon led off with a big three and added twos on the third and sixth ends. Beagle just couldn't keep any rocks in the house and called it quits after eight frames.

The sudden death evening tussle was the kind of thriller that only curling can offer.

It was deadlocked at 4-4 coming home but Lyon had secured the all-important possession of the last rock. Beagle went to the draw game, attempting to place one against a lone Lyon stone in the 12-foot ring. He was only partially successful with his first rock, though, and Lyon cleared both rocks out and stayed. Beagle then tried to draw to the remaining Barons rock but was slightly heavy, only rubbed it and rolled into the eight-foot. Lyon coolly hit and stuck for two with his last brick.

ANOTHER NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

For the first time this season, curling will declare a Canadian mixed champion.

The competition, to be run much along the lines of other Canadian playoffs (i.e., district winners advancing to intra-provincial competition) is sponsored by O'Keefe's Breweries.

The competition has been endorsed by the Alberta branch, RCCC, and it's felt that the competition will receive excellent support—even in its initial year.

Chairman for the playoffs within the Alberta branch is Stu Mason of the Glencoe Club.

Playoffs for Calgary (districts 9 and 10 as in the Consols and TPC playdowns) will be held February 10, 11, 12. January 31 is the closing date for entries.

Southern Alberta championship at the Big Four will be decided on a double knockout draw beginning Feb. 21 and continuing also on Feb. 22 and 23.

Provincial final is scheduled for Edmonton March 6-7 and the dominion final begins in Toronto March 23.

In connection with the Southern Alberta playdowns, a banquet will be held in Calgary the evening of Feb. 20.

RULES OF COMPETITION

1. The national rules of curling as issued by the Dominion Curling Association will govern except when otherwise specified.
2. Rinks shall be composed of two ladies and two men; with the men playing in the positions of skip and second, the ladies playing in the positions of lead and third.
3. All four members of a competing provincial rink shall be 21 years of age or older as of January 1 of the year of national competition, and shall have been in continuous residence in the province represented since August 1 of the year prior to the national competition.
4. All four players shall be bona fide members of the same club, which is in good standing with the Provincial Association affiliated with the Dominion Curling Association.
5. Each rink must consist of four players and remain unchanged in personnel and position as in the first game played, except as provided for in the case of injury or sickness, in which case substitution will be allowed at the discretion of the competition committee.
6. In all matters not specifically covered by the rules of curling, the decision of the competition committee will be final.
7. The trophy presented by the O'Keefe Brewing Company Limited for annual competition will remain the property of the O'Keefe Brewing Company Limited, and will be held for one year by the club represented by the rink winning the trophy. The trophy will be returned to the playdown headquarters prior to the start of the following year's championship play. The O'Keefe Brewing Company Limited will also provide suitable prizes for the winners and runners-up.

TWENTY YEARS AGO . . .

The Eaton Curling League was opening at the North Hill Club. In one of the games on the first draw, Bud Waldie got past Joe Blair. . . . President of the Gleichen curling club during this war year was W. Blaney. Dan McDonald was holding down the post of vice-president. . . . Early in February of 1944, Howard Palmer was preparing to play Glenn Williams for the Glencoe Club Consols crown. Palmer made it that far by beating Bob Munro in extra ends. . . . An Olds rink of Maybank, Holmes, Gooder and Sorenson won the Bowden bonspiel. . . . Leading their sections after one day's play in the Southern Alberta Consols were Glen Williams and Dr. Kennedy of Stavely. Some of the other rinks in the playoffs were skipped by Wilkie Sharpe, Fleet Kirkham, J. R. Goodrich. . . . Gordon Hudson was just returning from playing in the Quebec bonspiel and predicting that it would be a long, long time before the West had anything to fear from eastern curlers.

Len Haw was one of four skips taking rinks to the annual bonspiel of the Manitoba Curling Association. . . . Up in Edmonton, Basil Hills and Harold Haight got off to a good start in the annual Edmonton bonspiel. . . . The Crowsnest Pass bonspiel was opening in Blairmore and, as it used to happen, a chinook blew in. . . . At the Winnipeg bonspiel, the purists were startled when an all-Chinese rink showed up. . . . The 39th Banff bonspiel was just about to begin and good ice was promised for the four sheets on the north side of Sulphur mountain.

. . . After three days, Wilkie Sharpe still was undefeated in the Drumheller bonspiel. But the winner of the 'spiel, when the firing was over, was Allan MacLean of Drumheller. And Duncan Campbell defeated Tom Hove of Munson to win the second event.

At the Edmonton bonspiel, everyone finally bowed to Cliff Manahan. . . . And at Manitoba, it was Ken Watson who captured the grand aggregate. . . . At Lacombe, for that town's bonspiel, a hog-line can was installed. Those who hogged rocks had to contribute, and the proceeds went to an armed forces cigarette fund. . . . After three days of play at Banff, Howard Palmer was skipping the only undefeated rink. . . . Billy Rose and Tommy Anderson were among those with rinks at the Lethbridge bonspiel. . . . The Lethbridge grand aggregate was decided by the flip of a coin. Billy Rose and Fred Stewart of Macleod tied with 11-2 records. Rose won the toss. . . . The Manitoba Curling Association, in four years, gave a total of $85,000 to the Red Cross prisoner-of-war fund. . . . Even in 1944, the Dr. Merritt bonspiel was being played at the Glencoe Club. On hand for this one you could find Hube Gooder, Warren Cooper, Louis Smaltz, Doug Ward, Gray Miles, Wilf Edgar.

Curlers at Coleman subscribed $1,000 at the annual meeting to build a new rink. . . . George Chesney, acting as president of the branch, handed out the prizes as the North Hill club wound up the season.

The Bob Cruickshank quartet captured the mixed open bonspiel held at the Red Deer Curling Club.

Cruickshank and his mates dropped Dr. J. A. Lampard and his foursome in the final of the No. 1 event while in the secondary affair the Bob Winters rink prevailed over the Lloyd Bowie aggregation to win top honors.

The John Edgar rink, constantly a threat in any 'spiel, won the Oscar Lundgren Event No. 1 of the annual Farmers' Bonspiel by topping Cy Little, of Penhold.

Little earned a place in the finals by defeating Reg Stickland, while Edgar knocked off A. Benedict.

In the second event Dick Newton was the big winner by a victory over Sandy Gerrard. In the semi-final Newton beat C. Layden and Gerrard beat Bill McKinnon.

In the Merchants event, Don Duncan won the championship over Art Bergsten's rink, Duncan Manuel, while Bergsten defeated Reg Newton.

The Jack Scarlett rink, winners over the years of more curling awards than the skip cares to remember, won the third event. In the semi-finals Wilson defeated Gerrard and Scarlett beat Green.

The Brian Hansen rink of Bowden captured top honors in the first annual Red Deer High School Bonspiel at the Red Deer Curling Club.

Hansen and his mates, with Jim Richardson skipping, nipped the Stan Larratt quartet 11-10 in the final of the No. 1 Ultra Sales and Service event. Other members of the winning foursome included third Ray Craigie and lead Marilyn Saunders.

The Cy Little quartet had to do it the hard way again, but came up with two clutch games to capture the District 13 berth in the Southern Alberta Brier playdowns at the Penhold Curling Club.

Little and his mates from the Red Deer Curling Club knocked over the Hube Gooder rink from the Red Deer Curl-o-rock Club 11-8 and 9-5 to capture the district playdowns.

Gooper earlier in the three-day competition had won the A event of the modified double knockout play, but Little, the B event winner, came up with two straight victories to earn a shot at the southern title.

Gooper, in the second round of the competition, scored a win over Little to knock the eventual winner into the B section.

Hugh Spence and his mates from Red Deer captured top honors in the week-long open bonspiel staged at the RCAF Station Penhold Curling Club.

The Spence aggregation knocked over the Hallonquist quartet of Red Deer in the final of the No. 1 event while the Hope rink of RCAF Station Penhold and the Gillrie foursome of Olds finished third and fourth respectively.

Other members of the winning quartet included G. Kerr, third; J. Hardie, second and F. Fox, lead.

TEN YEARS AGO . . .

The Drumheller bonspiel attracted 58 rinks. Charlie Brown is president of the club and drawmaker for the event is Ed Melville. . . . Moving into the Southern Alberta Consols playdowns was Len Haw who won the city title by defeating Lorne Fuhrman 8-3. The likes of Doc Seaman, Mel Huget and Keith Stackhouse also figured in the playoffs. . . . In Taylor, Pearson and Carson playoff action out at Vulcan, this was the winning district rink: Bill Hansell, Ron Northcott, Jerry Sparks and Owen Fulton.

In the Southern Alberta Consols (then played in the Victoria Arena) these names were to be found: Tony Anderson, Ralph Townsend, Hugh Brown, Harris Matlock, Hap Heather, Chuck Roughhead.

Jack Ruttan was winning in the Edmonton bonspiel, as was Lethbridge's Dr. Arthur Haig. . . . Beating them all for the Southern Alberta Consols crown was Billy Allen of Olds. With him were Don McCune, Bill Stott and Syd Miller.

In the northern playoffs, these rinks still were undefeated: Matt Baldwin, Cliff Manahan, Ole Olson, Don Butt, Bill McCready and Bill Coatta. . . . Garnet Campbell was winning the grand aggregate at Regina. . . . The Drumheller bonspiel had to take a couple of days off because of the warm weather. . . . Lon McCullough and Ron Richardson were expecting around 100 rinks for the second annual oilmen's bonspiel.

George Whitney, R. M. Patriquin, Jack Ruttan and Harold Cundal were all taking in the Lethbridge bonspiel. . . . In the world of women, Mrs. Tommy Snidal won the Southern Alberta ladies' crown. Playing with her were Mrs. Bob Freeze, Mrs. W. Herron and Mrs. W. Adams. . . . Most of the honors in the Drumheller bonspiel went to Francis Poxon of Carbon. . . . Robbie Thomson's Milo rink won the Alberta TPC title and moved on to Hamilton for the Canadian championships. . . . Jimmy Welsh was the Manitoba Consols king.

The Big Valley Club, which held five bonspiels last year, is building an addition on the front end of the club for additional clubroom space. The Delnor Tweit rink of Stettler won the annual Big Valley bonspiel. On the club's Consols rink were Lloyd Duncan, Charles Laisnez, Doug Wiland and Evan Grover. TPC representatives were Doug Webster, Bob Crooks, Lawrence Wilkie and Doug Tiple.

No ice at the Craigmyle club last season but members are hopeful this time.

Morrin installed its artificial ice last season.

At Hanna, Albert Mason, Billy Greer, Jack Reeves and Ralph Kietnz won the 46-rink annual bonspiel.

In Consols play, it was the rink of Wayne Warwick, Claire Gover, Bob Griffith and Don Grover representing the club. In TPC play it was Barry Rooke, Fred Ritchie, Neil Colbert and Cliff White.

"NEW LOOK" SPELLS SUCCESS

The "new look" Alberta branch bonspiel (three sections and five days of play instead of six) went off almost without a hitch.

The only hitch, as far as the locals were concerned, was that all of the primary booty went out of town.

Gary Magee and his Fort Saskatchewan rink of Ed Gauf, Ray Rippel and Kent Clark, won 14 straight games and captured both primary events and the grand aggregate.

One week earlier, Magee went undefeated through the Curl-o-Rama playoffs.

Drawmaster Graeme Smith's new three-section system was designed to balance competition and bring back many of the older curlers in to the 59th annual bonspiel.

The first or "A" section was open to every rink, it offered eight events and a grand aggregate.

The second or "B" section was restricted to rinks on which three members were 40 or over.

The third section required that the aggregate age of each rink total at least 260 years.

The "new look" was well received.

In the primary finals, Magee stopped the Ron Borgstrom rink, skipped by Lloyd Woolley, 8-7; and the Van Reed crew, directed by Dale Lang, 7-4.

Dr. Jack Walker's Glencoe squad emerged the lone undefeated entry in the B section and won the primary spoils. In the C section, for curlers over 60, Max Rutherford's Calgary squad, skipped by Walt Van Buskirk, went undefeated for the first event prize.

Magee sewed up the grand aggregate in the first primary, Purity 99 event final against Borgstrom. The teams battled on even terms all the way but the Calgary Clubbers elected to blank the sixth end and wound up losing last rock on the even frames. Coming home one down, Magee posted a two when Woolley missed his first shot and had to leave his second rock wide open.

In the second primary, Calgary Brewing event, Magee broke open a cozy battle by stealing two on the 11th end. Lang's second man Ron Reed saw his rock curl too far on a draw attempt and bumped a Magee short rock into the rings. Magee drew to split the house and later erased two partial freeze efforts with his own rocks. Still, Lang had last rock but he was a trifle heavy drawing against the two Fort Saskatchewan rocks in the 12-foot.

The Hudson's Bay event three in A section went to B. A. Snider of the Calgary Club who won a marathon 14-12 final game verdict over the North Hill's Barney Neutzling.

Bill Ormsby of Eston, Sask. made a fine last rock to nip Ray Whitford of the CCC 5-4 in the AP Grain event four final. The thriller featured five blank ends.

Calgary Clubber Dunc Grant, with Dave MacLeod, Lloyd Clarke and Ernie Anderson on the front end, bumped Pete Burden of Edmonton 10-8 in the T. Eaton fifth event wrap-up.

Harold Sheeran of the Stampede outlasted Elbow

Valley's George Weis in a battle of last rocks 9-8 in the Calgary Herald sixth event final.

Former world champion skip Hec Gervais of the Edmonton Derrick clouted Kyle Lusk of the Stampede 11-6 for the Albertan seventh event booty.

Scott Ellis of High River, skipping Ray Srigley's North Hill unit, drew cold to the four-foot with last rock in the 12th end to count three and nudge Lee Green of the CCC 11-10 in the Gas Company ninth event final.

Walker, skipping an all-dentist rink of Norm Moss, Alf Dion and Grant Jorgenson, downed Hube Gooder of Red Deer with Olds' Ted Miller skipping, 8-4 in the B section primary.

Kindersley's Rich Wyman won the B section's second event. Irl England of the Glencoe, with Keith Brown, Stan England and Gordon Hutton, won the third competition beating clubmate Harlow Bowen.

Doc Aiello of Drumheller, with Norm Dalsto on the teehead, Ossie Shedd at third and Bob Shapiro at second, took fourth event honors by stopping George Hickling of the Stampede. And Bob Fornasero of the Calgary Club, with Joe Iozzi skipping, nudged Syd Rodbourne of the Winter Club for the fifth event victory.

Rutherford came from behind to defeat Charley McMillan 13-8 in the C section primary final. Vern Burrows of Innisfail bombed Jack Hutton of the CCC in the second event and Wilkie Sharpe of the North Hill downed Fred Grahame of the Glencoe in the third event.

Coronation artificial ice plant was installed in time for a three-month season last year. The Coronation Agricultural Society put in a cement floor in the building.

At Veteran, there was no open bonspiel held during the year. On the club rink in Consols play were W. H. Walker, Herb Kary, R. Burns and W. Homan.

In the annual Consort bonspiel, Lee Kroeger was the big winner with his rink of Ralph Wiest, Frank Williams and Ed Dyamitny. On the club rink in Consols were W. Tainsh, R. Wiest, O. Kelts and G. Johnson. TPC representatives were Jack Gould, R. Munn, J. Hutchings and Robert Tainsh.

Still talk of artificial ice at Oyen but nothing definite as yet. The club lunch counter has been renovated. Stan Thayer skipped the club rink in Consols play. On the TPC rink were Len Hall, Keith Bespflug Ken Ireland and Terry Battum.

Winners in the Acadia Valley bonspiel were:

Grand Aggregate—Rody Marshall rink.

The annual New Brigden mixed bonspiel was completed February 4 just before thawing conditions would have made further play an impossibility.

There was an entry of 24 rinks, and the bonspiel was efficiently run by Ralph Hertz, president, Robert Wilson, secretary; Ralph Jorgenson, drawmaster and Lloyd McClellan, rink caretaker. Visiting rinks were entered from Consort, Oyen, Cereal, Sedalia and Esther.

Winner of the grand aggregate trophy, donated by the Alberta Hotel in Oyen was the Consort-Monitor rink skipped by Roger Johnson with Gordon Heathering third, Len Weichnik second and Larry Oxameting lead.

Jim Peacock Jr. of Cereal with brother Burns, Gene Olson and N. Lamb won the grand challenge.

The complete list of winning rinks is as follows:

THE SENIORS AT PLAY

Curling's senior citizens, so to speak, kicked off a competition of their own during the 1962-63 season.

A southern Alberta championship was held at Banff and the winner, Ted Callbeck of the Glencoe, went on to win the first Alberta seniors title.

In a best-of-three series played in Edmonton, Callbeck (along with Harlow Bowen, Ed Gooder and Murray Gardiner) defeated Cliff Fender of the Edmonton Thistle.

Irl England, Ed Gooder and Dr. A. B. Blumes headed up the committee that arranged for the first, and long overdue, seniors' championship.

For the playoff at Banff, the modified double knockout draw was used.

Sixteen rinks participated in the new Banff rink and the Alberta branch, RCCC, sponsored a banquet for the competing curlers and officials.

Here is the personnel of the rinks which competed in the first seniors' championship.

The Callbeck rink curled well in Edmonton, winning its provincial title at just about the same time that Jimmy Shields was wrapping up the Consols.

The Calgary rink won 8-3 in the first game, then dropped the second 13-5.

The final was one of those skin-tight affairs which went right down to the last rock in the 10th end. Fender had possession of the rock but was faced with an almost impossible shot to score two and force an extra end.

Callbeck led off with a crunching two and was up 3-1 after three frames. Fender got back into the thick of it with two on the fourth, gave up singles on the fifth and sixth and had to rebound with another deuce on the seventh to stay in contention.

The Glencoe skip used his last rock for one in the eighth, though, and gained the enviable position of holding a two-point lead coming home when Fender missed a last rock takeout attempt in the ninth.

Even without his last brick, Callbeck and company held the upper hand throughout the final exchange. Fender had stowed away one shot rock in the four-foot but found there was no room left to slip one in there with last shot. He wrecked on a short rock trying.

Curling with the northern champion skip were Wilmot Van Camp, third, George Baptie, second, and Al Weeks, lead.

Murray Gardiner, Ed Gooder, Harlow Bowen, Ted Callbeck.

The Success of the Masters

The first ever Masters championship in Calgary proved just that.

The competition, promoted by Norm Austman, drew over 20,000 people and the best rink in the world, the Richardsons, took home the four Chevy cars that were the prizes.

The competition, held early in January, will be repeated again this season.

Thirty-two rinks were invited to participate and only the best received the coveted invitations.

The games were held in the Stampede Corral.

The Richardsons (Ernie skipping, third Arnold, second Garnet and lead Mel Perry) took the autos at the expense of the surprising Jim McCullough rink (Stu Beagle, John Kidd and Ken Hamilton).

Richardson defeated McCullough in straight games, 8-6 and 11-7, although it was the McCullough rink that handed the Richardsons their only loss of the competition.

The last eight rinks to remain alive in the competition were skipped by Richardson, McCullough, Slim Otterson, Hec Gervais, Jimmy Shields, Buzz McGibney from Trail, Harold Worth from Saskatoon and Mike Chernoff from Edmonton. These eight qualifiers were awarded the beautiful and coveted Masters jackets and crests.

McCullough won the A section with a 12-5 win over Richardson.

In the B section play, Gervais beat Otterson but then in turn was defeated by the Richardsons.

The biggest night at the box office was the final night, when 4,998 spectators visited the Corral to see the best-of-three final series between Regina's world champion Ernie Richardson rink and the quartet headed by Jim McCullough of Calgary. More than 3,000 were in the seats the previous night when Richardson tangled with Edmonton's Hec Gervais in a battle of last year's Brier giants.

Austman said next year's Masters will definitely be scheduled for Calgary. In future years, though, it could move to Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon, Toronto, Montreal or Vancouver.

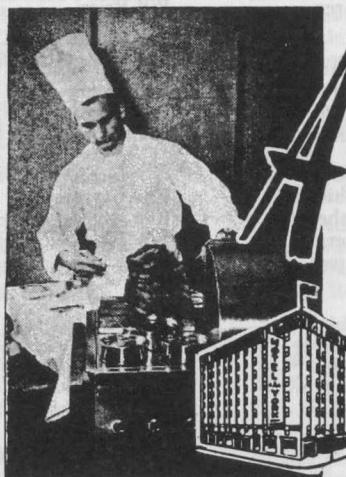

Once again, 32 rinks will be the limit next year. Future success of the Masters may prompt the promoters to reduce the field to 16 rinks.

It Started Here . . .

The Calgary Curling Club and the North Hill Curling Club shared Calgary's two district playoff spots in 1963 Consols action.

Jim Shields and his rink of Ron Northcott, Ron Baker and Fred Storey captured one.

Jimmy McCullough, Stu Beagle, Ed Brower and Mel Little of the North Hill won the other.

Shields won five straight in the "A" event, defeating Slim Otterson in the semi-final and whipping clubmate Bill Chilton in the final.

Following are line scores for the entire competition:

THE WOMEN'S STORY

The Southern Alberta Ladies' Curling Association with a membership of approximately 3,000 members, is divided into 16 districts. The Ladies' Dominion Diamond "D" championships will be held in Edmonton in February 1964, consequently the association anticipates an unusually big year. All ladies' curling clubs south of the Red Deer River with eight or more active lady curlers are eligible for affiliation with the association. The secretary-treasurer of the association is Mrs. Jean Batten and inquiries should be directed to her at 3834 Elbow Drive, Calgary. The dates for the ladies' playdowns, for which affiliation is necessary, are as follows:

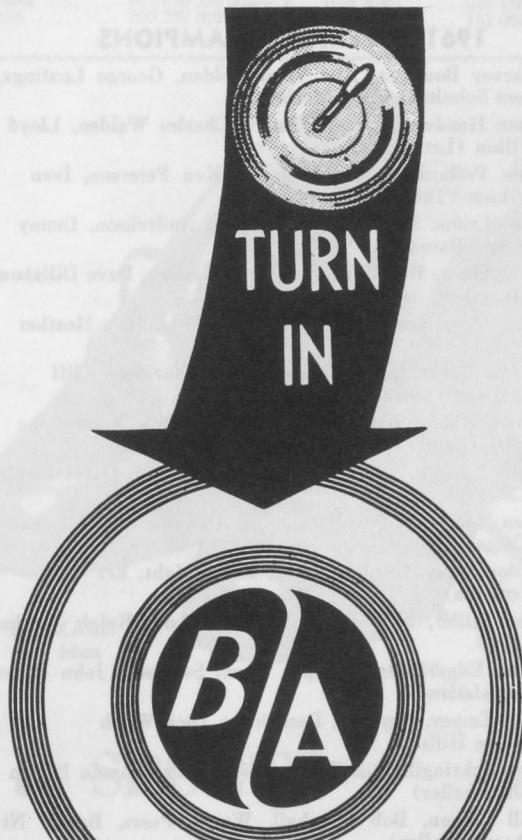

Closing date for City of Calgary Districts	January 17, 1964
Closing date for Rural Districts	January 24
S.A.L.C.A. Playdowns (Medicine Hat—Howard Palmer Trophy)	January 27 to 30

THE STORY AT LETHBRIDGE

If you don't lose a game, then you must win the championship.

And that was the story of the Jimmy Shields rink in the 1963 Consols playoffs at Lethbridge in which the traditional 16 rinks, representing all the districts in the branch, participated.

Shields went into the southern final with a 5-0 record in Calgary playoffs and duplicated the feat in Lethbridge.

The playoffs went smoothly under the direction of convener Fred Quittenbaum and drawmaster Ed Gooder. Also on hand were Charlie Scott and Case Bolderhey, secretary and president of the branch.

It was like going home for Shields because it was in Lethbridge in 1960 that he was with Stu Beagle when that worthy won the Alberta title.

As the winner of the A section of the double knockout tussle, the Shields rink needed only one victory against survivor Dave Russell of Milk River for supremacy in the south. They got what they needed to the tune of 10-4.

Shields, who skipped his rink to a southern berth in five games of city competition, defeated Bert Close of Medicine Hat, Calgary's Jim McCullough, Ted Miller of Olds and Ted Percival of Blackie for the A section win.

In the final, he had Russell with his back to the wall on almost every end. And although the 33-year-old representative of the home Lethbridge district came up with some magnificent shooting to make it close for a while, there wasn't really much doubt of the outcome.

It was one of those affairs in which the team shooting told the story. Shields and company clicked together for 82.1 per cent while Russell and his rink of Bert Swanson, two in the ninth when the Milk River shooter strangely and suddenly switched to a draw game. third, Joe O'Donnell, second and Leo Wachter, lead, managed only 60.3 per cent.

Fine last rock shots by Russell in the fifth and seventh ends kept the matter tight at 4-4 after seven. Shields began pulling away after that, hitting and sticking for one in the eighth, and out-skipping Russell for

THE FARMERS SHOOT HIGH . . .

The popular Curl-o-Rama competition, restricted to farmers and sponsored by the Massey-Ferguson company, saw its Calgary dealership championship go to a rink skipped by Paul Martin of the Calgary Curling Club.

Martin, with Moe Seaman, third, Ron Reed, second and former NHL star, Bert Olmstead, lead, eliminated the Strathmore entry of Ed Verweire, Bob Heckle, Peter Knight and Richard Danin 8-2 in the final.

Martin had won the A event in the double knockout competition and needed only the one victory to walk off with the marbles.

Verweire defeated Art Anderson of Springbank 7-3 in the B final after Anderson was taken to an extra end by Reg Thurston of Strathmore in the semi-final. Anderson got two on the 11th end for a 9-7 win.

After blanking the first two ends, Martin got a deuce on the third end, then allowed Verweire a single on the fourth before striking back with a three on the fifth for a 5-1 lead. The sixth end was blanked, then the Strathmore rink picked up another single on the seventh and that was all Martin allowed him. Martin counted two more in the eighth and another one in the ninth and it was all over.

The provincial final, also played in Calgary, was won by the Gary Magee rink of Fort Saskatchewan.
